To Rush Program
Through.

PLAN WOULD CUT BASIC SURPLUSES

Lands Would Be Removed From Production and Modified Allotment
Theory Applied.

By ROY F. HENDRICKSON.
WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP)—The preparation of a new farm bill to be enacted soon after the special session of congress disposes of emergency financial legislation is the main item on the agenda of the conference Friday by Secretary Wallace who is anxious to make the new plan effective for this year's crop. Planting begins March 15 in many sections and enactment of needed legislation as soon as possible has been set as the goal.

Wallace was reluctant to discuss the framework of the new plan other than to admit that it "is to provide for an orderly retreat from production of lands now devoted to cotton, wheat and corn." He said it would be a "modification of the allotment plan and will involve rearing of lands devoted to surplus production."

Wallace and Tugwell.
From other sources it was learned that details of the plan have been worked out by Wallace and Dr. Rexford Tugwell, the new assistant secretary of agriculture, and that President Roosevelt approved the principle of the measure.

From the allotment scheme the new proposal will take the plan for having the secretary of agriculture determine at the beginning of the crop year the acreages of wheat, cotton and corn needed to fill domestic needs. The corn estimate would be figured in terms of pork requirements. A possibility exists that tobacco would be added to the list of commodities.

After this quota of lands to be removed from production would be figured for every state, county and township. The government would then call for bids from farmers in which they would set forth the lowest price acceptable for removing areas from production.

The government would then contract to lease and retire from production the lands not needed to fill domestic needs.

How the funds would be raised to meet the rental cost has not been definitely determined. Some farm leaders suggest that the revenue-raising method proposed in the allotment plan be employed—a tax on processors.

Sneak Thief $160 Richer, Talmadge Poorer, Wiser

Governor Eugene Talmadge lost $160 to a sneak thief while in Washington to attend the Roosevelt inaugural, it was learned Wednesday.

The governor confided to friends that he undressed in one room of his two-room suite at the Raleigh hotel and slept in the second room. When he arose Sunday morning he found the door to the dressing room unlocked and $160 missing from his pockets.

The governor admitted his loss Wednesday, but would make no comment.

RAINEY BLOC WINS COMMITTEE FIGHT IN PARTY CAUCUS

Three of Four Candidates
Elected by Speaker and Allies; George Heads Senate
Elections Group.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP)—At a democratic house caucus late today Representatives Shallenberger, of Nebraska; West, of Ohio; Boehne, of Indiana and McClintic, of Oklahoma, were elected to fill four vacancies on the ways and means committee.

Burch, of Virginia, who was on the state of the new democratic leadership, was defeated by the vote. Shallenberger, Boehne and West also were on the list. McClintic was the only member elected who did not support Rainey, of Illinois, and Byrnes, of Tennessee, for the speakership and leadership, respectively, at a previous caucus.

Earlier in the day, the senate democratic steering committee had selected the new chairmen of all standing committees for the new congress and assigned the important banking and finance posts to Senators Fletcher, of Florida, and Harrison, Mississippi, respectively.

The foreign relations committee chairmanship went to Senator Elmer, of Nevada; agriculture to Smith, of North Carolina, and rules to Copeland, of New York.

Senator Byrnes, of Arkansas, the majority leader, was in line for the rules chairmanship but stepped aside for Copeland, because he said he did not have enough work to do officially.

The veteran Carter Glass, of Virginia, was assigned the appropriations committee chairmanship.

Other major committee chairmanships were set as follows:
Ashurst, of Arizona, judiciary.
Shepherd, of Texas, Senate.
McClintic, of Ohio, commerce.
McClintic, of Ohio, interstate commerce.
Bratton, of New Mexico, irrigation and reclamation.
Coolidge, of Massachusetts, immigration.
George, of Georgia, elections.
Kentrick, of Wyoming, public lands.

Scrip Power Is Denied To Al Smith Group

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP)—Governor Herbert H. Lehman announced tonight that the treasury department had prohibited the issuance of scrip by the Emergency Certificate Corporation set up last night by the legislature.

The governor refused to say in what status this left the Emergency Corporation, of which former Governor Alfred E. Smith was named chairman.

Aside from the issuance of scrip, the Emergency Corporation had the further purpose of co-operating in any way that would be effective in raising money to help the state in any state or national banking undertaking.

In view of this purpose it was indicated that the corporation would continue in existence.

Speakeasies Will Be Ignored Under Dry Agent's New Orders

By JAMES W. DOUTHAT.
WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP)—Nervous speakeasy patrons unable to shake off an apprehensive thought of possible raids by federal agents received the reassurance today of official word from Prohibition Director Woodcock that henceforth his men will pay little attention any more after July 1 to the operation of the speakeasy.

Under a change of policy made known by Woodcock, the federal government will concentrate "almost entirely" on liquor manufacturers and transporters and will leave the speakeasy problem to the states.

The new plan puts in immediate effect restrictions imposed by congress against spending any money after July 1 for wire tapping or for purchasing liquor as evidence. The regulations went out on March 3, the day before President Roosevelt signed the law.

In a statement, Woodcock said the restriction against buying evidence "will make it virtually impossible for the bureau to be effective against speakeasies in most jurisdictions."

He added, "also will enable us to reduce the force after July 1 to conform to

LIMIT ON TRUCKS PLACED BY SENATE AT 18,000 POUNDS

House Approves Drivers' License Law and Wholesale Reduction in Salaries of State Employees.

By L. A. FARRELL.

With only 10 days of its regular biennial session remaining, the legislature moved swiftly on its important measures Wednesday, the senate passing a bill barring from the highways all trucks weighing more than 18,000 pounds and the house approving two important measures, one providing a driver's license law and the second a general wholesale reduction in the salaries of state officials and employees.

The motor vehicle measure was approved by the senate by a vote of 44 to 4, after a long debate. The vote was reached after the senate rapidly disposed of a flood of amendments and substitutes which were offered and read on Tuesday.

Prompt action on Governor Talmadge's cotton holiday proposal was seen when two holiday bills introduced in the senate were approved by committee several hours after they were read for the first time. The senate called up for passage the power of sale bill known as the moratorium bill, but adjourned for the day without taking final action after a move to table the bill was lost by a vote of 13 to 20.

The house late in the day also received a cotton holiday bill which the committee on agriculture voted approval immediately after adjournment. The bill is sponsored by Representative Collier, of Madison, and Batchelor, of Putnam.

The motor vehicle bill passed by the senate limits dimensions of cars and trucks to 35 feet in length, eight feet in width, and 12 feet in height, and limits two-wheel trailers to a gross weight of 3,000 pounds.

The salary reduction bill if finally enacted will save the state approximately $125,000 annually, its sponsors claimed. The bill was approved by the house by a vote of 138 to 9.

The bill was a substitute for an original bill by Simmons providing a straight 20 per cent cut on all officers except those fixed by statute. The attorney-general is reduced from $5,500 to $5,000, and the comptroller general is cut $1,500 annually, $4,500 to $3,000; secretary of the board of regents and the board of control, from $5,000 to $4,000; assistants attorneys-general, from $5,000 to $4,500.

Executive Branch Cuts.
The officials and employees of the executive branch of the government are cut, as follows:
Those receiving from $12,000 to $18,000 annually, 5 per cent; those receiving from $18,000 to $24,000, 10 per cent; those receiving from $24,000 to $30,000, 15 per cent; those receiving $30,000 or over, 20 per cent.

The drivers' license measure is the law which the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Roosevelt Message Will Be on Air Today

President Franklin D. Roosevelt's first message to congress will be broadcast this morning over the Columbia Broadcasting System and WGST, according to announcement by L. L. Watson, secretary of NBC.

The speech will begin at 10:45 o'clock, Atlanta time, and the broadcast will continue throughout the address.

It is expected that the speech will be limited to the banking crisis and a request for the widest authority possible to effect economies and balance the federal budget.

In passing upon the justice department appropriation bill during the short session, congress voted the limitations on the expenditure of money for prohibition funds for prohibition enforcement from $10,250,000 for the present fiscal year to $8,440,000 for the 12 months beginning July 1.

Woodcock said that while new provisions did not become effective until the beginning of the next fiscal year it was desirable to "conform to the wishes of congress" immediately.

Discussing the restriction against wire tapping, Woodcock said it would affect only operations against larger syndicates and that an adequate substitute would have to be found.

A restriction also was placed upon paying money to informers.

Woodcock, appointed director of prohibition by former President Hoover, is staying in office at the request of the attorney-general until a successor is appointed.

The order of Prohibition Director Woodcock will not affect Atlanta and this district so far as speakeasies are concerned, according to Deputy Prohibition Administrator E. P. Wright.

But will curtail the purchasing of liquor as evidence, wire tapping and paid informers.

Indictments charging A. W. Lilly, former DeKalb county chief of police, with larceny from the house and simple larceny were returned by the grand jury which for three days has been investigating conduct of the DeKalb police under the Lilly administration. Announcement of the indictments came from A. E. Foster, foreman, who said the body would continue its investigation this morning.

Solicitor-General H. H. West, of the Athens circuit, in charge of the DeKalb probe, said Wednesday night that bench warrants for the arrest of Lilly had been drawn and would be signed by Judge John B. Hutchinson, of the Stone Mountain circuit, this morning.

West was uncertain whether trial of the cases against Lilly would begin at once or await the end of the grand jury investigation, expected to last several days longer.

Lilly resigned as chief of police; one patrolman also resigned, and four others were dismissed by County Commissioner C. A. Matthews at the

Atlanta Banks Announce Issuance of Scrip Friday

The three clearing house banks of Atlanta, having received authority from the secretary of the treasury to issue scrip, will put the certificates in circulation Friday morning, they announced Wednesday night. The banks' statement follows:

To the Public:
The undersigned member banks of the Atlanta Clearing House Association announce the following:

The secretary of the treasury has issued the following regulation concerning Clearing House Certificates:

"Clearing house associations and other associations organized to provide an adequately secured medium of temporary exchange are hereby permitted to issue certificates against sound assets of banking institutions, such certificates to be deliverable by each institution to its creditors and depositors on a pro-rata basis, provided, however, that no such certificates shall be issued before Friday, March 10, 1933."

Under the foregoing treasury ruling the undersigned banks will commence the issuance of Atlanta Clearing House Association certificates Friday morning, March 10.

The basis of payment to all depositors will be pro-rata as required by this order, and the percentage of such payment will be determined later and announced to the public.

The physical task of preparing and signing certificates is enormous and practically the entire force of each of the undersigned banks has been continuously engaged in it for several days.

We hope the public will continue to co-operate with the banks in their efforts to meet the unusual emergency existing throughout the country and their desire to aid in the rapid restoration of normal business.

COTTON ADVANCES SHARPLY IN SOUTH Nipponese Troops in Complete Control of Passes Along Great Wall.

Gains of 30 to 50 Points
Are Reported by Southern Traders.

By the Associated Press.
The south continued buying and selling cotton Wednesday with prices generally 30 to 50 points above the last quoted prices on the exchanges.

Augusta, Ga., reported the biggest increases with sales of 48 bales of 7-8 middling at 7 cents, 65 points above the 6.35 for spot when New York closed March 3 and 105 points above the March 1 closing New Orleans price of 5.95.

The reports, gathered by the cotton division of the United States department of agriculture, showed sales of several thousand bales at Dallas 30 to 50 points up.

Chickasaw, Okla., said high grades were selling at 25 to 30 points advance but Oklahoma City reported the prevailing basis in that state was 15 points off May, landed Houston with buyers anxious for good character staple at fixed prices, using the New York close.

Memphis reported scattered sales with good demand for cotton at fixed prices but buyers were unwilling to sell at 30 to 50-point advances.

At Houston, Texas, 7-8 strict middling was bringing 6.76. Prices for all grades were flat terms, making 23 points less than shipside high density.

Savannah, Ga., buyers were paying 6.45 for middling delivered there. Other quoted sales included New York, Ark. 6; Lubbock, Texas, strict low middling, 15-16, at 6.50; I. O. B. Lubbock, Greenville, Miss., strict low middling, 11-18, at 6.80; Rayville, La., Galveston, strict spotted, 1 inch, 6.45.

El Paso and the surrounding territory in New Mexico and Charleston, S. C., were the only places reporting business at a standstill.

Most sales were made on the basis of reimbursement to be made in the case against Lilly would begin at once or await the end of the grand jury investigation, expected to last several days longer.

Lilly resigned as chief of police; one patrolman also resigned, and four others were dismissed by County Commissioner C. A. Matthews at the end of a sensational three-day hearing on a possessory warrant against Lilly which had been sworn out by Mrs. O. B. Wright, wife of an alleged bootlegger. Mrs. Wright charged Lilly with having taken many valuable articles from her home after making a raid on it.

With Mrs. W. E. Hartley, who charged Lilly and his fellow officers with removing 13 sacks of sugar from her home during a raid there, Mrs. Wright was a witness before the grand jury Tuesday. Police officers ousted after the Lilly resignation also were among the witnesses.

Wednesday's witnesses before the grand jury included L. Y. T. Nash, former county commissioner; Solicitor-General Claude Smith and Johnnie Jones, special investigator of the solicitor-general's office.

The investigation is being directed by Solicitor-General Smith, who was assigned by Judge Hutchinson when the league would not serve the highest purpose of the prevention of war and a settlement of international difficulties in accordance with fundamental

3 ATLANTA BANKS WILL ISSUE SCRIP ON OPENING FRIDAY

Authority Granted Clearing House here by Treasury Head; 1,000,000 Certificates being Signed.

Through the Atlanta Clearing House Association, Atlanta banks announced Wednesday night that they had been authorized by Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin to issue scrip and that the certificates would be in circulation when the banks open for business Friday morning. They opened Wednesday under a limited service scale.

The certificates will be issued on a pro-rata basis as required by the treasury's ruling but the percentage of payment to each depositor has not been determined and officials Wednesday night did not say when they expected to reach a decision. The announcement was signed by officials of the First National bank, the Citizens & Southern National bank and the Fulton National bank.

More than a million pieces of scrip have been printed and are being signed by bank executives who are working day and night in an attempt to complete the task before 9 o'clock Friday morning, the end of the national bank holiday.

The scrip is expected to be moved from the printing plants today. Secretary Woodin did not give formal approval to the local scrip issuance plan until late Wednesday afternoon.

We are prepared to put the scrip in circulation as soon as the bank holiday ends Friday," R. Clyde Williams, president of the clearing house association said.

As the banks reopened under the limited service plan, executives went to the printing plants to finish the arduous task of signing the scrip. There appeared little chance that all would be signed by Friday morning but it was thought that a supply large enough to meet the demand would be on hand at that time.

Banks reported a large number of new deposits Wednesday under the regulations laid down by the treasury department. The First National, the Citizens & Southern National and the Fulton National all reported an unexpectedly brisk business, though none would reveal what the day's total deposits were.

Other functions permitted under the orders of Secretary Woodin also were carried out without hindrance. Governor Eugene R. Black, of the federal reserve bank, announced Wednesday that the treasury department had ruled that banks were permitted to make payments on pensions, workmen's compensation disability insurance and unemployment relief.

The reserve governor also said that Washington had ruled that the bank holiday includes pawnbrokers, industrial, personal and mortgage banks, battle loans companies and automobile finance companies.

In connection with the bank holiday and the efforts of President Roosevelt and his cabinet to alleviate the situation, Governor Eugene Talmadge Wednesday issued the following proclamation:

"We have we are in the midst of the greatest crisis in our country's ever experienced, and we cannot make it endure for long unless the people will stand by the government in the hour of its need."

Reopening Is Delayed By Grain Exchanges

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP)—Efforts to reopen the grain exchanges in advance of the reopening of banks were abandoned today at a conference called by Henry Morgenthau Jr., chairman of the farm board.

The group decided to continue in session in the morning, however, in an effort to work out an emergency plan for releasing contracts for future delivery of wheat now held by the board with which the millers encumbered sales of flour in the meanwhile.

Revive Whipping Post For Young Offenders

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 8.—Good results are reported by the police department from the unofficial whipping post being occasionally employed in correcting crime tendencies.

Recently a number of thefts have been perpetrated by those too young to be sent to the chain gang, although old enough to work. By agreement, the parent administrators the good whipping in the presence of officers, who see that it is not too severe. In the past week eight or ten such offenders have been so punished. Frequently parents become so enthusiastic in administering the whippings that the officers interfere.

DOORS REOPENED BY MANY BANKS ON LIMITED BASIS

Woodin Abandons Idea of U. S. Scrip in Favor of New Money But Allows Local Emergency Issues.

By the Associated Press.
Banks over most of the nation opened their doors to do business as the treasury department's regulation Wednesday as a national policy of "expanded currency instead of scrip" was announced.

Secretary of the Treasury Woodin gave no details in announcing his plan for currency expansion, but the program was greeted with enthusiasm by financial leaders.

Banks of the nation may issue $3,000,000,000 in new currency without the shifting of a single comma in present laws. Though such a legal provision—embodied in the Glass-Steagall amendment to the federal reserve act and in the Borah rider to the home loan bank law amending the national bank act—has existed for more than a year, it has been used by banks only to a limited extent and can be used further when members of the federal reserve system and national banks choose.

Woodin's pronouncement did not prohibit cities and communities from issuing scrip. The secretary said he would grant such privileges if the reasons justified it.

Several cities already were reported doing so, but mostly by agreement of merchants, not banks. Nashville banks released thousands of dollars worth of it.

There were some states, including Mississippi, Iowa and Illinois, where banks remained closed, but others, however, facilities for moving perishable foodstuffs, meeting pay rolls in part with cash, changing currency of large banks and other measures were reported being carried on.

Heading the national government's activities along with Woodin's ruling on expanded currency were reports at Washington that President Roosevelt would keep a firm hand on the situation until congress could enact a banking program into law.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, announced confidently that congress would have taken the necessary steps within three days after the special session convenes tomorrow.

Prices of foodstuffs and necessities of life in general are little changed. New shipments of pork at the world's largest meat packing district in Chicago caused retail pork prices to lose most of the two cents a pound retail advance of recent days.

Banks handling pay rolls usually paid only 10 per cent in cash, requiring the workers to take the remainder in checks. At Chicago, first paid its employees in small checks of $5 and $10, acceptable by the grocer and other tradesmen.

Some of the banks were open in Idaho, Nebraska, Georgia, Michigan, Missouri, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, New York, Tennessee, Pennsylvania and other states.

Speedy Passage of Bill Pledged in Both Houses

Measure "Will Relieve Situation and at Once Start Banking Operations," President Says Following Parley.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt predicted early today "immediate" resumption of banking activities throughout the country as a result of the enactment of an emergency bill, speedy passage of which had just been pledged him by congressional leaders.

"I've been in conference with members of the senate and house and have talked over with them a measure which has been carefully studied and prepared and which will immediately relieve the situation and at once start banking operations throughout the entire country," a statement issued by the president said.

Meanwhile, the treasury launched a drive upon gold hoarders with a newly conceived threat of publishing their names.

At Secretary Woodin's direction, orders went forward to the 12 federal reserve banks to report the names of all persons who have withdrawn gold from member banks since February 1, and fail to deposit it by March 13.

Officials, while reticent, indicated the move was part of Mr. Roosevelt's general plan for ending hoarding. Confidence was expressed that a large portion of the gold now held privately would be turned in for other currency before March 13.

With the precious yellow metal, the conversion of the legislation into one of the president's chief objectives, back in the hands of federal authorities, it can be utilized as the basis of the control of currency expansion plan which has been withdrawn gold from the scrip money idea originally contemplated.

This currency expansion forms the principal point in the legislation drawn up for submission to the special session of congress convening today at noon.

Details were withheld, but it was described as securely backed and within the present restrictions of the federal reserve law. New legislation is necessary, however, to give the congressional leaders said.

Even such sticklers for a currency of gold soundness as Senator Glass, of Virginia, a former secretary of the treasury and a conceded authority on banking legislation, gave the plan their approval.

Mr. Roosevelt's conference included leaders of both parties and houses in congress. Upon its conclusion, after two hours and a half of discussion, Senator Glass, democratic leader, and Speaker-designate Rainey joined in saying from the steps of the White House:

"I believe that the bill will be passed through both houses tomorrow and

GOVERNORS APPEAL FOR NATIONAL UNITY

State Executives Ask for Solid Front Behind New President.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(P)—An appeal for national unity, unexampled in peace-time history, was issued today in simultaneous proclamations by the governors of the states.

Acting at the suggestion of a non-partisan committee, including civic, political and religious leaders and the heads of important national organizations, the state executives asked for a solid front, in this time of trial, behind President Roosevelt and American institutions.

Reports to the committee tonight were that every governor had joined

246 More Colonels Appointed in Kentucky
FRANKFORT, Ky., March 8.—(P)—Two of President Roosevelt's official family were included in a list of 246 colonels, 17 admirals, one rear admiral, one colonel of Kentucky air forces, one commander and one captain announced today by Acting-governor A. B. Chandler.

To Louis Howe, the president's confidential secretary, already a Kentucky colonel, went the title of admiral. Postmaster-General James A. Farley was made a colonel.

In the proclamation except where legal technicalities prohibited it.

The nation-wide appeal thus presented was the first public result of an endeavor conducted under the chairmanship of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, the explorer, to assure the president of united backing for a program of prompt and decisive action.

Other members of the committee who signed the letter of suggestion to the governors were:

President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor; President Henry H. Harriman, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; Louis J. Tamm, master of the National Grange; Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad; George Cardinal Mundelein; Dr. Harry E. Fosdick, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Alfred E. George Named Head Of Three Committees

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, was selected today by the democratic steering committee to be chairman of the senate privileges and elections committee in the new congress convening in extraordinary session tomorrow.

At the same time, the Georgia senator was named a member of the steering committee itself.

As chairman of the privileges and elections body, Senator George will preside over all contests involving seats in the chamber.

In addition to privileges and elections and his new assignments on the steering committee, Senator George will retain his membership on the two most important committees of the upper house, finance and foreign relations, together with the civil service committee, of which he might have been chairman in lieu of the other if he had preferred.

Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, will not receive a chairmanship for the moment, due to his limited service thus far, although he may be given additional committee assignments later when the steering committee undertakes to complete the democratic reorganization. At present he is a member of appropriations, immigration, manufacture and naval affairs, all regarded as highly desirable.

BRITAIN UNCERTAIN ON RETURN TO GOLD

LONDON, March 8.—(P)—The domestic banking emergency in the United States has not changed Great Britain's policy so far as return to the gold standard is concerned, it was learned today from the highest financial quarters of the British government.

The British policy was reaffirmed thus: While the nation looks forward to an eventual return to gold as the most suitable international standard of value, no return can be contemplated until there is promise of a more workable system than existed just before Britain abandoned gold in the fall of 1931.

Film Employees Take 25-50 Per Cent Cut

HOLLYWOOD, March 8.—(P)—To enable the studios to weather the financial storm and go ahead with pictures now in the making, salary reductions of 25 and 50 per cent were accepted by employees of three motion picture concerns today, another studio was on a four-week "pay holiday," another was considering acceptance of the cuts and two others were expected to fall in line shortly.

The studios at which pay cuts were accepted at mass meetings were Columbia, Paramount and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

In approving the salary reduction proposal of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, Columbia studio employees agreed to extend their cuts beyond eight weeks, as requested, if that should become necessary, with the provision salaries be increased within that time, if possible.

SENATOR PROTESTS REMOVAL OF ENGINEER

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Senator Walter F. George today registered a strong protest with the board of engineers, war department, against a threatened discontinuance of the sub-office of the corps of engineers located at Brunswick, Ga.

At the request of Richard C. Job, managing secretary of the Brunswick Board of Trade, the senator asked Lieutenant-Colonel John J. Kingman, assistant in charge of the river and harbor section of the office of Chief of Engineers Major-General Lytle Brown, to withhold final action until he had been given an opportunity of discussing the matter with him.

Colonel Kingman said that he was awaiting a recommendation from one of his field officers as to the advisability of discontinuing the Brunswick suboffice, and that he would be pleased to talk with Senator George at any time. He further said that because of drastic economy cuts in the war department appropriation bill for the next fiscal year, retrenchment would have to be made somewhere and that an investigation was being carried on to determine whether one or more suboffices of the corps of engineers could not be eliminated.

Senator George will confer with General Brown and Colonel Kingman just as soon as an official report is received from Brunswick.

Mr. Job had advised the senator that the Brunswick office has been in continuous operation since 1903 and that it has been of marked assistance in the development of the port of Brunswick.

"The Brunswick office," said Mr. Job, "has jurisdiction over the inland

CURRENT IMPASSE LAID TO INDUSTRY

Green Sees Indiscriminate Wage Slashes as Root of Evil.

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address before the New York Board of Trade, Inc., asserted today that industry itself is responsible for the nation's economic predicament, and that industrial management must lead the way out.

Industry, said Green, who announced yesterday in Washington that labor would demand higher wages if prices go up as a result of the present banking situation, launched a destructive attack upon their own consuming market through the enforcement of lower wages and reduced buying power.

He expressed the opinion that "it would be a fatal mistake for the business and professional interests of the nation to assume that labor will continue to exercise disciplinary control and self-restraint if they are forced to suffer indescribable impoverishment and unspoken distress indefinitely."

"For more than three years," he said, "they (labor) have exhibited a courage and loyalty which has challenged national and community admiration."

Labor Impatient. "At the present moment they are impatient. They are the real victims of unemployment and economic distress. They are firmly convinced that industrial management and those who actually control the financial and industrial affairs of the nation have refused to accept the remedies which labor proposed and have failed to deal with a great emergency in a constructive and practical way."

Green expressed the opinion that "the behavior of much of industrial management and of the representatives of many financial institutions during the last three years 'has been most unwise and injurious.'"

"While those in control of industry may contend," he said, "that lowered wages reduce costs of production, they fail to consider that any alleged benefit resulting from such lowered cost is offset by the further limitations placed upon the consuming market and the further reduction imposed upon the purchasing power of the people."

"It has been a very costly lesson. Many industrial managers are publicly admitting the mistake made, stating that industry has gone too far in its market-destroying policies."

Declaring that the nation's consuming market in 1932 was $25,000,000,000 less than it was in 1929, Green added:

"These figures represent facts which cannot be controverted. They show that, if the nation is compelled to buy less of manufactured goods, there must be a proportional decline in the sales of manufacturer products."

Answer to Question. "Here is the answer to why markets were destroyed, why there is a contraction of the nation's consuming power, and why there are silent mills, factories and workshops throughout the land."

"The present situation calls for direct, immediate action. The clear call of the moment is to industrial management to make such adjustments and to initiate such policies as may be necessary to provide employment for idle people and to return them to the wage-earning class where they may exercise their maximum buying power and thus create a demand for marketable goods."

"The question is, will industrial management face these facts and is it resourceful and courageous enough to work out a plan and apply the methods necessary to achieve results? Have we in the United States owners of industry who will boldly chart a course which industrial management may be required to follow in order to overcome unemployment?"

Commenting on the loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the railroads, Green said:

"There are many people who believe these loans will never be repaid and that ultimately the railroads of the country will be government-owned and government-operated. They regard these loans as the initial step in government ownership of railroads."

GIRL'S DISAPPEARANCE Baffles BAMA POLICE

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., March 8.—(AP)—Baffled at every turn, police today lacked a clue to the cause of the disappearance of Ruby Bates, textile worker and one of the principal witnesses in the Scottsboro case.

Mrs. Victoria Price, companion of the missing girl on her "hobo" trip when the pair allegedly were attacked by nine negroes aboard a freight train in Jackson county, again was questioned by police.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Mary Bates, mother of the girl who has been missing since the night of February 27, was seemingly unworried, and told police today she believed her daughter would return this week.

3 Huge Stills Seized
In Abandoned Hospital

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP)—Three stills with a total capacity of 3,000 gallons, 32,000 gallons of beer and molasses mash, and 2,000 gallons of alcohol were seized today in a raid on an abandoned hospital at Mount Kisco, a suburb of New York, it was announced by prohibition officials here.

In what was formerly the maternity ward, the raiders found four 500-gallon vats of beer mash. In other parts of the old building they found a 1,500-gallon still, a 1,000-gallon still, a 500-gallon still, two 1,000-gallon tanks of alcohol, and three 10,000-gallon vats full of molasses mash.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 9, 1933.

THE MAJORITY SHOULD RULE.

The use of the county unit plan to name the delegates to a state convention to consider the repeal of the eighteenth amendment would be subversive of the spirit of the state constitution and would make it easily possible for the will of a majority of the people to be defeated.

The state constitution specifically designates that population must be the basis of any vote on a state constitutional change. The same principle should be applied to an election to ascertain the will of the people with regard to proposed changes in the federal constitution.

Under the county unit plan a group of 51 counties having a total population approximately the same as that of Fulton would have 17 times as many votes in the convention as this county. Relative injustice would be done to the people of all the large counties in the state—including those of both predominantly urban and rural population.

So unfair would be this method of ascertaining the will of the people on a constitutional change that in the event the unit plan decided the election one way and the popular vote another, as seems probable, the higher federal courts would, no doubt, reverse the result.

Such an election would be violative of the fundamental democratic principle of rule by majority. Such an unfair method of ascertaining the will of the people on a constitutional change would, if the vote were against repeal, probably be reversed by the supreme court for the popular vote were for repeal.

The move to clamp the county unit plan on the repeal referendum is an obvious effort to add to the voting strength of those favoring the retention of the present prohibition laws, if not a deliberate attempt, through unfair methods, to defeat the will of the majority of the people.

The general assembly, in considering the method to be applied to the repeal election, should bear in mind the violation to the spirit of the state constitution which would be involved in the adoption of the county unit plan, and the practical certainty of a reversal by the higher courts of the result should the popular vote differ from the county unit vote.

The simplest and fairest method of getting action in accordance with the will of the majority of the people will be to call a convention, the smaller the better, consisting of delegates elected, from the state at large.

Such a convention would fairly and justly represent the will of the majority—which almost certainly will not be the case in the event the county unit plan is used and an unequal value be placed on the ballots cast in an election of equal importance to every citizen of the state.

R. F. C.—Refrain From Commemors.

We are a peace-loving people, seldom paying pensions for more than three wars at a time.

Also, uneasy lies the head that holds a mortgage.

There must be some actors, artists and professional men who aren't broke. They aren't writing for the magazines.

NOT FAR ENOUGH.

The statement by James H. Perkins, new chairman of the board of the National City bank, that "from this time on, no executive officer of the bank will sit upon the board of its security-distributing affiliate, and no executive officer of the company will sit upon the board of the bank," does not offer sufficient guaranty against further indulgence by the bank in the unethical activities which forced the resignation of former Chairman Mitchell.

Banking is one business and the dealing in investment securities is another. The two should be absolutely dissociated, not only as regards official administration and board membership, but in ownership control.

Separate sets of officers and directors will make but little difference if the bond of joint ownership remains. The financial service rendered by banks and by stock and bond investment companies is of a totally different nature, and they meet widely separated requirements.

When a bank steps out of its own field to dabble with the buying and selling of securities the way is opened, as it was in New York, for unscrupulous financiers to indulge in activities certain to be harmful in the long run both to the bank and its customers.

The only safe plan is for no bank to own or control an investment company and for no investment company to own or control a bank.

That is why the house-cleaning plan of the National City bank, as outlined by Mr. Perkins, does not go far enough.

PROMOTION FOR MISS DELL.

A move has been launched by friends of Miss Jessie Dell, outstanding Georgia woman who has been a member of the federal civil service commission for more than seven years, to have her named as chairman when the commission is reorganized by the new administration.

It is a promotion that would be a fitting recognition of outstanding service in public office.

Miss Dell has served as the democratic member of the commission under two republican administrations, the other two members being republicans. She was one of the first women in the country to win a high ranking federal office and her distinguished and able service has fully justified her appointment.

While she has made a brilliant record as a public servant, she has been especially noted for her support of the principle that where men and women are equally fitted for public service a woman should not be discriminated against because of her sex.

Her long fight for this principle was finally crowned with success last December when President Hoover, as the direct result of her efforts, issued an executive order amending civil service eligibility requirements and revoking the privilege under which appointing officers in the government could specify the sex of eligibles for appointment to fill vacancies.

The promotion of Miss Dell to the chairmanship of the commission on which she has served so long and skillfully would be a merited recognition of faithful and efficient service.

This appointment by President Roosevelt would not only place in an important position a person preeminently qualified to discharge its duties, but would constitute a gracious act of recognition of an outstanding woman of his adopted state of Georgia.

Both from the standpoints of earned promotion and the placing of the vitally important duties of the civil service commission under the direction of an official of proven ability the appointment of Miss Dell would be an ideal one.

The trouble with this reforming business is that so many imperfect people wish to reform more decent ones.

If you spend it as you make it, you're a spendthrift and a wastrel; if you save and invest it, you're a sucker.

This hands-across-the-sea business is neighborly, but why do the others never hand across anything?

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Stalin on The Wire.

The famous Moscow Art theater was recently authorized to discuss its communist director and to devote itself henceforth to theatrical art once more, as in the past, instead of being compelled to run propagandistic representations. The Moscow Art theater's correspondent in Moscow tells a story of how the change came about. Stalin, it appears, the world-renowned director of the theater, who has been in charge for 30 years, got so tired of the communist activities that he decided to call up Stalin on the telephone. The conversation went something like this:

Stalin: "You see, I am a little embarrassed, I don't know how to address you, Mr. Stalin."

Stalin: "You see it's this way, this communist assistant of mine is a charming fellow, really quite charming, a good party member, no doubt, good father to his family, but really... eh... I wish the devil knew a damned thing about the theater."

Stalin: "He won't bother you any longer."

Stalin: "Oh, well, there is something else. Some of the pieces that we have been playing, you know, quite charming pieces, good propaganda, you know, but really... I wish they had nothing to do with art. You see, Stalin, this is a theater, an art theater. That's what it is."

Stalin: "I will give immediate orders that you are to select the pieces yourself."

Stalin: "Can we really play what we want? Say, could we play Chekhov?"

Stalin: "Sure, play Chekhov, why not?"

Stalin: "You are mighty good. We would so much like to play Gogol's 'Dead Souls' too... What do you think?"

Stalin: "Play what you want. You are the boss!"

A One-Battle War.

General Ian Hamilton, who predicted trench warfare and who led the British Expeditionary Force to the other day before an audience of British ex-soldiers of what will happen, in his estimation, if another war breaks out. "The war," he said, "won't be long in coming if the disarmament conference breaks down. It will be over in as many weeks as your war took years," he told the former soldiers. "The huge masses of infantry on either side will never get into contact. The whole of the mechanized motor-driven forces of either side will meet at once on the land. Each will be rushing forward to seize an advance base for their airplanes and their tanks on enemy soil. That first encounter will most certainly decide the war."

The victorious tanks and airplanes will cut up the host of foot soldiers and artillery as half a dozen armored knights of the old peasant wars could, and did eat up a thousand men, but unarmored. Then they will begin to tap up the civilian population as a cat laps up cream. And perhaps the worst of all these devices will be added to the civilian airplane laden with chemicals."

Sir Ian Hamilton paused. "Now," he concluded dramatically, "now you will see the disarmament conference. That applies to us as well."

If Man Can Teach His Dog Tricks, Why Not Teach Himself a Few?

By Robert Quillen

There is a popular belief that character is formed for good or ill in the first 16 years of life.

If that were true in all cases, none would reform or "go to the bad" in later years, and life after life would be secure against temptation or altogether hopeless.

But there are innumerable exceptions. In every community there are people who have changed their way of life long after reaching maturity. The decent have become vile and the vile have become decent.

In the majority of such cases, perhaps, the change is the work of environment or circumstance—wealth, poverty, injustice, religion, accident or hard experience. In such cases the individual does not change his character; it is changed on him.

But the fact of a change after maturity indicates that character-building is a continuous and life-long process, and the reasonable inference is that the individual can effect the change by his own efforts if he so desires.

How shall he go about it? By adopting the process that developed the race.

Men did not invent ethical standards because they wished to be good. They saw the need of certain rules such as the rules of lying, and adopted them as a matter of expediency. When experience proved the rules good and custom made them sacred, man decided they were moral. Necessity is the mother of convention as of invention.

If the individual would build a better character, let him develop a sense of honor. That is all he needs.

At first he must force himself to be honorable—to do this because it is just and refuse to do that because it isn't square. But each avoidance of dishonor will make the next a little easier, and soon the practice of decency will become a habit.

Robert Burns learned to fall in love by "going through the motions" until pretense developed into reality. So the striking of blows in play can develop the rage that commonly suggests blows. Nature is easy to fool.

When the practice of honor becomes a habit, the habit is supported and justified by a new state of mind and the state of mind is character. Character is the whole sum of habits and it is quite possible to select habits instead of absorbing them unawares.

'Not Afraid of Vote on Repeal,' Says Newton of Lewis' Charge

"Now that the anti-prohibitionists have managed to get the question re-opened and a referendum authorized, I, for one, will not be afraid to see the people vote on it," said Dr. Louis D. Newton, pastor of the Lewis Baptist church, Wednesday.

Dr. Newton said that he believes the referendum is a precedent which justifies an effort to repeal any other law of our constitution that cuts across individual liberty. Under the step has been taken and the challenge thrown down to the people who believe that the legalized saloon is a vice, second only to the death of Mr. Newton.

"These good friends have a perfect right to their opinion on the liquor question, as do the rest of us," Dr. Newton said. "I wish the distinguished senator had gone a step further and indicated how he arrived at the conclusion that 90 per cent of the citizens of Georgia are against repeal. Pointing out that Lewis is a resident in Washington, D. C., as an appointee in Congress."

Dr. Newton said that "the intolerable situation which confronts us today with disregard of all law must not be charged up to the people who have fought the liquor traffic. They have not condoned bootlegging. Under the present situation any more than the condoned bootlegging in the days of the legalized saloon, I rather think it will awaken many mothers to the present situation."

Holmes, 92 Years Old, Visited by Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP)—A 40-minute visit from President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt was the 92nd birthday present received today by former supreme court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

The visit started at early dusk, and didn't end until the moon was shining in the sky. But a patient crowd that waited for President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt to emerge from the staid, old, red-tiled town house with the iron grill balustrade, was at last rewarded.

They not only had a chance to cheer Mr. Roosevelt and his son, but they also glimpsed a tall, athletic figure in brown and red flash pants on foot—Anna Eleanor Roosevelt—Mrs. Roosevelt's wife, walking back to the White House.

LIMIT ON TRUCKS PLACED BY SENATE AT 18,000 POUNDS

Commerce has been sponsoring for many months. It provides that all drivers must obtain a license. The fee is 25 cents, 10 cents of which goes to the sheriff or other officer making the examination and issuing the license while the balance goes toward general administration of the statute. The law will be administered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The house also passed during the day a bill by Representative Johnston, of Upson county, to remove the restrictions regarding the grading and marketing of peaches. This leaves only federal restrictions applying to peach grading and marketing in the state.

Cotton Holiday Bills.

The cotton holiday bills were offered by Senators Nathan F. Culpeper, of Greenville; Andrew Tuten, of Atlanta, and others. Both bills seek to remove the ravages of the boll weevil, the pink boll worm, black rot and other insects and plant diseases affecting the cotton plant in Georgia by prohibiting the growing of cotton during the cotton holiday.

The holiday would begin January 1, 1934, on provision that the same or similar legislation be adopted by the next Congress. The bill provides for not less than 75 per cent of the acreage planted to cotton according to the 1932 census of the federal bureau of agriculture.

Resolutions of the Georgia section of the American Society of Civil Engineers urging the general assembly to pass legislation to remedy sanitary conditions in the Atlanta district and avert the danger of an outbreak of disease were read to the senate and referred to the committee on health and hygiene.

School Borrowing Approved.

The senate passed a house bill authorizing the Fulton county board of education to borrow money for operation of schools.

Mrs. Eugene Talmadge, wife of the governor, was extended privileges of the senate as a guest.

Governor Talmadge Wednesday signed the bill by Senator T. W. Oliver, of Eastman, raising the education requirements of pharmacists to three or four-year college education before examination by the state board and permitting exchange of licenses with other states. The bill was sponsored by Representative Benjamin B. Bowen.

Scrap Expected to Produce Wild Business 'Boom' Here

The way is open for business to procure funds sufficient for pay rolls, officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond asserted Tuesday.

Throughout the fifth federal reserve district communications to banks are being sent by the Bank of Richmond today, informing them that the fifth district bank will replace pay roll funds withdrawn under the provisions of treasury department regulations.

Employees were meeting pay roll by payment part in cash and part in grocery coupons, or by arranging to have checks issued to employees cashed by stores or in their own offices.

Insurance companies—both fire and life—were also expected to be affected by the situation as it affected the ordinary citizen.

10 MILLION CASH PLACED IN GOTHAM

News That Real Money
Instead of Scrip Will Be Issued Heartening.

By H. ALLEN SMITH.

NEW YORK, March 8.—(UP)—Heartened by news that real money instead of scrip will constitute the basis of financial comeback, and that more than $10,000,000 in cash was placed in circulation through pay rolls in the city, New York today experienced a psychological upturn of well-defined proportions.

Complex as it still seemed, the financial situation appeared to be struggling out of the morass of uncertainty toward a restoration of normal, or near-normal, activity.

Of further aid in dispelling the feeling of confusion which has prevailed for four days, was the announcement that the federal reserve gold backing of the dollar is more than sufficient to forestall abandonment of the gold standard. The backing is such that another $2,000,000,000 in currency could be issued without exceeding the limit prescribed by law.

For the man in the street, however, the salient development today was reopening of most of the city's banks for the purpose of cashing pay checks, and the cashing of other checks for small amounts to take care of food.

The great trek to the banks was not alone for purpose of getting cash. Hoarded gold and hoarded currency began showing up. New segregated trust accounts were opened. The Manufacturers' Trust Company, the Irving Trust Company and other institutions reported gold deposits, some of it in the original bags used when the yellow metal had been issued from the federal reserve bank. Several millions in gold reached the federal reserve bank from member banks during the day.

The movement of cash was far from normal. But those thousands dependent on unemployment relief once again were receiving money; the money which the pay check was settling his grocery bill, and the municipal government succeeded in raising sufficient funds to meet an $800,000 pay roll tomorrow.

The city's mutual savings banks were considering invoking a rule requiring depositors to give 60 days' written notice before they can withdraw.

Frigidaire Men Meet in Atlanta Today To Launch Their Sales Program for 1933

Messengers of optimism and new business plans are these members of the Frigidaire organization who arrived in Atlanta Wednesday preparatory to opening a convention here this morning. Front row, left to right, Frank C. Lyons, air conditioning division; H. F. Lehman, commercial sales manager and head of the party; F. J. Cotton, public utilities division. Rear, left to right, J. F. Cain, D. T. Hayward, P. F. Bunker and Don Frank. The party came from Dayton, Ohio, the headquarters of this division of General Motors, and will visit principal cities in the south.

Several hundred men who represent Frigidaire Corporation, subsidiary of General Motors, in the Atlanta trade territory, will meet today in the Shrine Mosque with a group of executives from Dayton, Ohio, for the launching of the company's sales and advertising program for the remaining months of 1933.

Headed by H. F. Lehman, commercial sales manager for the company, a special carload of factory executives and sales department representatives arrived in Atlanta Wednesday and were greeted by A. F. Eichleub, manager of Frigidaire Sales Corporation.

"We selected Atlanta as one of the cities in which we are assembling 15,000 dealers and salesmen because of its strategic location in one of the important areas we serve," Mr. Lehman said last night.

Our conference here will be similar to ones in the thirty-six best situated cities of the nation. We will draw funds at the end of the moratorium. All savings banks, it was said, are in excellent condition and the 60-day regulation would simply prevent any possible hysterical withdrawals the moment they reopen. The Savings Bank Association announced, however, that it has made no definite plans as yet.

Talmadge To Address Civic Meeting Tonight

Governor Eugene Talmadge will speak at a mass meeting of representatives of various civic organizations to be held at 8:45 o'clock tonight at the Ansley hotel roof garden.

Walter S. McNeal Jr. will preside, and any matters pertaining to increase in taxes will be considered, it was said.

A discussion of a proposed legislative bill seeking to establish a sewer district in Atlanta and vicinity will be held. Members of the Georgia section, American Society of Civil Engineers, Wednesday were on record as favoring some kind of a district "to enable the territory affected by this extremely hazardous condition" to correct it.

Among the organizations expected to attend the meeting tonight are the Atlanta Inter-Civic Association, the Taxpayers' League, Real Estate Board, South Side Civic Federation, the Central Improvement, Hotel Men's, Property Owners and Apartment House Owners Associations, and the Association of Building Owners and Managers and the Northeast Inter-Civic League.

The Atlanta federation will urge the Georgia body to enlist the aid of all affiliated organizations and urge by letter all representatives and senators to oppose the bill. Recently elected officers of the federation were installed Wednesday night. A. Steve Vance, president, began his fifth consecutive year as head of the body.

Man Is Found Injured, Soaked With Kerosene

An unidentified white man whose clothing was initialed "C. M. H." was admitted to Grady hospital late Wednesday night in an unconscious condition and with a probable fracture of the skull, attaches said. He had been found lying on the Bankhead highway near the river bridge by James Gore, of Mableton, and taken to the hospital in a car occupied by federal prohibition agents.

Police reported that the man's clothing had been saturated with kerosene but they were unable to determine the cause of the injury. County police went to the spot where he was found to make an investigation.

Stolen Money Returned To Louisiana Cafe Man

ALEXANDRIA, La., March 8.—(AP)—It must have been a case of conscience, troubled, indeed, and pinching tighter than the money crisis, which brought back to J. R. Myrick his $255.00 in good old-fashioned cash after he had been attacked and robbed.

That neat sum was taken from Myrick's pockets early Monday morning by two men who dragged him from his automobile, left him in a ditch and fled on foot. Today Myrick was sitting in the cafe he runs here feeling even poorer than everyone else, when a woman drove up in front, called a waitress to the curb, handed over an envelope addressed to Myrick and drove rapidly away. The envelope contained his $255.00 but no explanation.

Armored Car, Guards Pay Wall Street Men

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP)—Two "Wall Street men" were paid their wages today, and paid with a flourish which momentarily placed them in the spotlight of general attention, although they are only dirt-diggers.

The two laborers were working in an excavation at Wall and New streets, a short block from the stock exchange. An armored car drew up to the hole. Armed guards descended and as a policeman posted himself at the excavation's edge paid the laborers their hire.

Four Persons Injured When Train Hits Auto

Three persons were injured early Wednesday night when the car in which they were en route to New Orleans was struck by a southbound Atlanta & West Point railroad passenger train at the Augusta avenue grade crossing in East Point. Those injured were Mrs. Sarah Markham and her son, Milton Embark, and Mrs. Arthur Williams. A fourth passenger in the automobile, Mrs. Margaret Ford, was not hurt. An ambulance of A. C. Hemperley & Sons carried the three to Piedmont hospital.

None was seriously hurt, the hospital reported.

Scrip Issued by Macon Banks in 1907

This is a reproduction of one of the clearing house certificates of the Macon Clearing House Association, issued in November, 1907. On the back of the certificate is the statement of the association that the payment is guaranteed by the Macon Clearing House banks—the American National bank, the Commercial and Savings bank, the Fourth National bank, the Home Savings bank, the Macon Savings bank.

These certificates were extensively circulated in Macon and the immediate effect of their issuance was a revival in business conditions. Their circulation is said to have liquidated more than a million dollars of indebtedness. Every certificate was finally paid in lawful money of the United States.

At the same time these certificates were issued in Macon the clearing house banks in Atlanta issued an even larger amount, with the same effect.

Georgia B. W. M. U. Adopts Mission Budget of $160,000

Election of Officers To Feature Final Session of Annual Convention at Bessie Tift.

BY MRS. L. O. FREEMAN.

FORSYTH, Ga., March 8.—Adoption of a $160,000 program of missions for the year featured Wednesday's session of the Georgia Baptist Women's Missionary Union, now in annual convention here at Bessie Tift College. This missionary budget was adopted without protest, in a belief "that the spread and practice of gospel truths constitute the only redemptive agency for the world today, leaving as it is under its burden of sorrow, indecision and responsibility."

The adoption of an $85,000 promotion budget was another matter of business for the day. This will be expended for promotion of the work, accepted wholly by the union. The accepted plan of work for the year will follow closely that adopted by the southern union, and will include the fundamentals of prayer, enlightenment, Bible and mission study, directed personal service, stewardship and the missionary education of young people, together with Margaret Fund and White Cross work.

The inspirational highlight of the day was an address by Miss Kathleen Mallory, Birmingham, executive secretary for the Southern Association of Baptist Women, composed of 30-175 missionary societies, with annual gifts totaling more than $2,000,000. Miss Mallory spoke of "Hisbert and Now," forcefully setting forth God's power and leadership of the past as an earnest of present and future strength and guidance.

"Building the Kingdom in the Home Land," was the subject of an address by Dr. J. B. Lawrence, executive secretary of the Baptist Home Missions Board. Dr. Lawrence emphasized the development of individual responsibility as the surest solution to the present-day problem of the church.

Dr. C. W. Maddy, secretary of the S. B. C. board of foreign missions, spoke to the convention on "Insight and Action," urging "understanding of the times in which we live and applying to them the fundamentals of Christ-like thinking and doing."

Departmental reports were given by Mrs. C. F. Cater, of Quitman, White Cross; Mrs. W. W. Stark, of Columbus, stewardship; Mrs. L. O. Freeman, of College Park, publicity; Mrs. W. T. Martin, of Atlanta, personal service; Mrs. E. M. Bailey, of Acworth, mission study chairman, stated that during the year 1932-33, 11,400 mission study seals had been awarded. Work in the seven sections of the state was presented in an effective way by the seven divisions, vice presidents, using posters to show the year's gifts and attainments in their respective divisions. These vice presidents are Mesdames J. H. Zachary, Atlanta; H. L. Alford, Hartwell; Hudson Thomas, Austell; R. L. Maynard, Americus; G. S. Borders, Cedar-town; E. L. Tanner, Douglas; Miss Henrich Hughes, Danville.

The program of Wednesday evening, presenting missionaries at home on fund-raising, proved the inspirational climax of the convention. These missionaries introduced by Dr. T. W. Ayers, himself a missionary to China for 25 years, were Miss Susan Anderson, Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Quarles, Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Hart, Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Morgan and Dr. A. Y. Napier. Equally impressive was the presentation of a group of prominent scholars, students, the children of missionaries, by Mrs. W. T. Henry, state chairman. Georgia's seven students are John, William and Mary the Quaries, Lois and Laura Hart, Lucile Clark and Scott Patterson. An appeal that "Georgia Christians set themselves a missionary task so great that strength and wisdom and power," was made by Dr. A. Y. Napier, for 25 years missionary to China.

The convention will close Thursday with the annual election of officers. It is known that a number of present officers will not stand for reelection, and the question of their successors, Mrs. J. P. Nichols, of Griffin, is chairman of the nominating committee. Among the present officers are: Mrs. J. C. Lanier, vice president; Mrs. J. J. Neel and Mrs. George Westmoreland, president and vice president emerita; Mrs. A. F. McMahon and Miss Mary Christian, executive secretaries; Mrs. B. L. Tucker, auditor; Mrs. E. C. Laird and Mrs. Fred L. Phillips, recording secretaries.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Almost every mistake we poor women make is ascribed to our imperfectly balanced emotional life by the judicious-minded men that sit in judgment upon us. We generally accept the verdict with the "Oh yeah" toss of the head even when we don't move our lips. We react to the verdict in one of two ways—either we recognize our guilt and are unashamed of being convicted or we are sure we are innocent and feel the indifference that generally accompanies innocence. But when we are accused of being "too emotional" by one of our own sex the reaction is somewhat different. We resent the accusation or we set about taking stock of ourselves, resolved to tame the wild emotions, or at least camouflage them.

Professor Lillian H. Locke, of the department of household arts, Teachers College, Columbia University, tells a New York Times interviewer that more women can't dress well because they are too emotional. The professor, who has been having in mind their physical appearance and their personalities. We might reply to her as did the old servant who was re-creating a moral lecture for her employer: "God give me my nature, didn't he?"

Her rejoinder to this ad hominem defense would probably be devastating, for while "God gave us our nature," he also gave us our minds and with them we have been able to make some progress in holding these nature within bounds.

When a judicious-minded male judge tells us we are too emotional to do this or that well, he has finished with the case; but Dr. Locke passes a suspended sentence upon us and tells us how we may overcome the besetting sin that is costing us not only cash but the satisfaction of knowing we have made the best of our physical and psychological equipment.

"There are always two things to be considered when a woman dresses," Professor Locke said. "First, she should dress to make the most out of her physical appearance and bring out her best points; second, she should dress to bring out the best traits of her personality. The two are quite different things. The first has to do with the size of nose and lips, and shape of hips, while the second has to do with charm and grace.

"In bringing out either the physical appearance or personality, one has several tools to work with. These are line, color, size, shape and proportion of the masses which go to make up the costume, and texture of materials. There are certain fundamental principles in the use of each of these which are necessary for any one to know in order to dress effectively. They are practically the same rules and principles that any artist would use in creating an effect in any medium.

Professor Locke listed five of these principles, as follows: Avoid repetition of color or lines; avoid clashing opposites of color or lines, try for transition of colors; subordinate the color of the face to the color of the dress; and try for symmetry of lines.

Until a woman learns these artistic principles she cannot get the joy and satisfaction that creation gives one," Professor Locke said.

She added that in order to dress in a way that is acceptable to others a woman must know something of the way different people "react emotionally" to certain creative effects.

"That takes in the whole psychology of personal appearance," she said. "Fully 50 per cent of the judgment of dress depends upon the emotions rather than the intellect. Women choose a dress just from an emotional standpoint, liking or disliking it for no legitimate reason at all, and, as we know, emotions are such an unstable quality. If reason were used, more lasting satisfaction would be received.

"It's the average person who needs to be most careful about clothes. The genius will rise in spite of the fact that the average man or woman it is a decided asset to dress well. I know several instances where women were turned down by jobs driven to others having less ability but possessing greater taste in their appearance. Little things like a hat, collar, socks or shirt are sometimes enough to turn the balance."

Patently these are all good suggestions for the educated, cultivated women that have time to read and think, ability to assimilate what they read, time to shop carefully and money enough to cover the cost of complete costumes. But what of the hordes of hard-working, poverty-stricken people that haven't time or opportunity or ability to work out the scheme, to recognize rhythm of line or beauty of contour, much less money to buy choice materials for creating good effects. Emotionalism doesn't control their taste, nor touch their necessities? The college professor living in the city where styles are set, where shops display "the dernier cri" might have a word for these women. But since she doesn't voice it let us add it.

Personal daintiness is the first and last law of the expression of a pleasing personality. Clothes chosen with reference to every law of creative art and worn with the creative flair cannot cover up, nor camouflage the evidence of carelessness in the matter of personal daintiness. The out-moded hat is never as laughing stock when it is well brushed-up and shoes that are always polished advertise the wearer's neatness almost as well as the brand new and rich or poor, emotional or rational, at home or on the street, the woman who is neat and smells sweet is expressing one of the best phases of the feminine personality.

DRY GROUPS VOTE TO UNIFY FORCES

Super-Organization Will Fight Move To Repeal 18th Amendment.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(P)—Nearly 1,000 delegates representing 30 religious denominations and almost every dry organization in the country, voted today overwhelmingly to put the nation-wide campaign against ratification of the prohibition repeal amendment under control of a central organization headed by nine men.

After extended debate, the final session of the two-day conference held here at the Calvary Baptist church, approved the one-unit project, under which all such organizations as the Anti-Saloon League and the W. C. T. U. will accept direction from the central organization.

The plan of campaign will involve an attempt to build a political organization, oppose the anti-prohibitionists in the states in the selection of delegates to the convention which are to pass upon ratification of the pending proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

A considerable campaign fund and intensive educational efforts are part of the plan. The executive committee of nine, which will be the directing head, has yet to be named, but will be chosen from among the members of the ways and means committee of today's conference which proposed the sweeping program.

HARNESS FACTORY BOOMS AS PEOPLE RETURN TO HORSE

BUFORD, Ga., March 8.—(P)—The horse collar and harness business is rushing these days and the Buford plant that manufactures such equipment just is employing 1,900 men.

John Q. Allen, member of the Buena Vista Company, which makes horse collars, harness and shoes, says his business is the best in its history because "folks are turning back to first principles in trade and commerce and the flop-eared mule is coming again into its own."

The harness manufacturer said 100 new hands were added in departments of the plant last week and that every "sleepable" room in town was occupied. Some night shifts, he added, are necessitated by the rush of business.

Allen said his factory was turning out around 1,200 sets of team harness a week in addition to "parts."

TARZAN THE UNTAMED No. 226

"I went to England, supposedly a Red spy. It was the first time I had seen my native land since I left it for India as a small girl. In London I learned of my father's death in the Afghan war. Both my brothers were overseas in the King's service. My only other relative was cratchy Aunt Canby, now quite infirm. She seemed glad to see me, though."

"...Even she knew of my 'unholy fame' (she called it) as a celebrated dancer. With no ties to hold me home, restless and unfettered with success, I plunged the more eagerly into the part I was destined to play in the Red war, soon coming. I had no difficulty in gaining the confidence of the British foreign office."

"Many of its personnel were old friends of father's, and I was well known to most of them. Other official doors readily opened to me, and in possession of valued facts, and under secret orders I returned to Moscow. I took the name, Olga Borsch. It was my Russian mother's, from whom I inherit my dark eyes and hair."

"I made several trips between the continent and England, secure now in the confidence of the Red leaders and equally valued by the high British command. So was set the stage for intrigue and espionage on my part, in Africa. In my favorite disguise, as a big game hunter, I started for the scene of the coming conflict and was leaving Istanbul when war flamed forth."

Stocks and Cotton Continue to Gain Ground

LIVERPOOL COTTON

CONTINUES TO GAIN

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP)—

With the cotton futures market here continuing open re-establishment of adequate banking facilities, uncertainties both as to spot cotton values in the south and foreign exchange rates continued today.

Owing to the increased demand for piece goods, a more active inquiry for spot cotton and quotations is being received from the mills and exporters are being made to arrive at a definite price basis. In some cases spot cottons are reported to be offering cotton, basis middling 7-8 landed at southern mills at prices ranging from about 7-8 to 8 cents per pound.

Meanwhile, some spot business has been done with mills on buyers' call at a slight advance in the basis as compared with last Friday, with prices for 4 to 5 frames higher.

Taken altogether, however, spot here saw only a small amount of cotton has changed hands since last Friday.

The Liverpool market showed net gains of about 10 to 11 points (20 to 21 American points) for the day, with cotton futures closing at 11 1/2 to 11 3/4 with a 4-63 pence at the close of last Friday.

The Egyptian futures market in Alexandria was 50 to 55 pence higher while the spot quotations for Indian cotton in Liverpool was 22 points higher at 4-44. The Havre market closed at 4-38.

According to reports reaching cotton men here from Worth street, business in cotton goods continued extremely active and it was rumored that some cotton commission house clients unable to trade in cotton had diverted their orders to the goods market.

ST. LOUIS, March 8.—(AP)—Cotton futures closed at 11 1/2 to 11 3/4 with a 4-63 pence at the close of last Friday.

Chevrolet Will Distribute New Line of Passenger Cars

In a telegram to The Constitution Wednesday, H. T. Ewald, president of the Campbell-Ewald Company, the advertising agency, announced the issuance by the Chevrolet Motor Company of a new line of cars next Saturday. Mr. Ewald said that key newspapers of the country, because of their quick, overnight appeal, would be used almost exclusively for this announcement. His telegram follows:

"In the midst of the current economic unrest, you will be glad to know that Chevrolet is completing its original plan prepared some months ago to introduce an entirely new additional line of passenger cars on Saturday, March 11.

"The new cars are priced for reduced incomes. They feature low operation and upkeep costs and deliver utmost in fuel economy.

"They are equipped with the Fisher-No. 4 draft, health ventilation feature. Announcement is to appear almost exclusively in display columns of the nation's key newspapers, because of their unequal effectiveness in getting an important sales message to the public overnight.

"Chevrolet believes that a satisfactory present market exists for any worthy product rightly priced and ably advertised and merchandised. This policy at this time seems to me most constructive. No organization so consistently conservative as Chevrolet would make such a move without feeling that the outlook amply justifies it. Such aggressiveness on the part of the largest producing company in the world's largest industry must give businessmen everywhere additional confidence and courage.

"As I am quoted in Editor and Publisher, the best thing that advertisers can do to restore confidence is to show confidence themselves."

"The best evidence of that confidence is the presence in newspaper pages of continued advertising copy that by its very persistence shows an abiding faith in those institutions on which all business is founded."

Trapped on Ice Floe, Fishermen Rescued

ASHLAND, Wis., March 8.—(P)—The rescue of George LaRocque and Ollie Sandstrom near Little Girl Point, Wis., accounted tonight for the last two of a score of Madeline island fishermen who were known to have been adrift shortly before noon today on a large block of ice in Lake Superior.

After drifting nearly 50 miles across the Lake Superior bay, the marooned men were sighted by rescuers at Little Girl Point and taken off the ice floe. Buffeted by strong winds during its slow journey across the bay, the huge cake of ice had divided into a comparatively small floe when it reached Little Girl Point.

Several large banks indicated, without giving figures, that rush of boarders to be rid of the glittering metal already had started.

Meanwhile there was a rush of suggestions for official reprisals against the holdouts.

Several large banks indicated, without giving figures, that rush of boarders to be rid of the glittering metal already had started.

Meanwhile there was a rush of suggestions for official reprisals against the holdouts.
